

Deep Relationships. Notes on the article.

Secrets to deep relationships:

- asking deep questions
- talking about deep relationships with the person.
- going camping with the person.

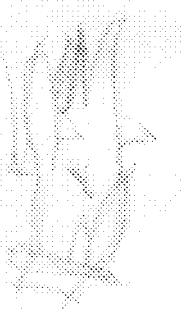

→ make the person a part of your life (this may not work, work - the about many years, but we may not know anything deep about him - might want to ask that person a deep question to get things going)

→ make up something deep about the person and then ask "is this true?" ("I heard you have a whole other side to you - that is very interesting and I want to ask if this is true")

→ avoid using pseudonyms, use your proper first and last name and avoid other kinds of lying. (although you might pseudonym that's just for deep relationships - these special names are code for "I know you deeper" and don't take pictures of yourself with the person because pictures make the relation ship not as deep - unless it's a very old picture)

→ join the person on the app just once and no more.

→ promise to meet the person one hour from now in the same spot (even outdoor techniques for time you need a deep relationship)
→ joke and laugh - those seemingly light things are surprisingly deep

Actualization of the term "social" has made most of them
